

The public (including non-AMV members) is welcome at all events of Audubon Miami Valley

Questions or comments can be directed to Hardy Eshbaugh, Program Chair (eshbauwh@one.net or 513.523.9305).

Join our AMV Members listserve. Receive field trip notices, schedules of upcoming monthly programs, and Citizen Science activities. To join, visit: <http://listserv.muohio.edu/archives/amvmembers.html>. It's free and open to everyone, even non-members!

For membership information, please visit our website: www.orgs.muohio.edu/AudubonMiamiValley

Audubon Miami Valley PROGRAMS 2004 ~ 2005

Audubon Miami Valley
www.orgs.muohio.edu/AudubonMiamiValley
November 2004

For a list of monthly meetings and
Citizen Science activities, check out our website!
www.orgs.muohio.edu/AudubonMiamiValley

AMV PROGRAMS

2004 ~ 2005

All lectures are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the Lebanon Citizen's National Bank, 30 Park Place West (located in Uptown Oxford on the Square) unless otherwise noted.

September 13

Jim Inglis, Regional Wildlife Manager, Pheasants Forest
Managing Grasslands for Wildlife in Ohio

October 11

Casey Tucer, Audubon Ohio, Audubon At Home Educator
Audubon At Home, an Innovative Approach to Conservation and Citizen Science

November 8

Jon Seymour, President, Oxbow, Inc.
The Oxbow - Wildlife in the Oxbow Inc, Nature Conservancy

December 13

Jim Reid and Hardy Eshbaugh, Audubon Miami Valley
An Ecuadorian Odyssey

February 14

Erin Bowser of Ohio Public Interest Research Group (PIRG)
The Issues Confronting Ohioans
Ms. Bowser is a graduate of Ohio University. Ohio PIRG focuses on a number of issues of direct interest to Audubon Miami Valley including Preserving Lake Erie, Reducing Ohio's Air Pollution, and Ohio's Environment at risk. Nationally PIRG has for thirty years been a watch dog on the most important issues confronting the nation. Come learn about advocacy in Ohio and how we as members of AMV can make a difference.

March 7 (Meet at the Manchester Inn, 1027 Manchester Ave., Middletown, OH)

Rosie Bloom Recipients Cindy Grau, Debbie Grant, and Gail Reynolds

A Hog Island Summer

Cindy Grau, Debbie Grant, and Gail Reynolds, three area high school teachers, received Rosie Bloom scholarships this past summer. They spent a week at the Hog Island Audubon Camp in Maine studying ornithology and environmental science. Come and learn how this experience has enhanced their teaching and enriched their lives. Hog Island is where Roger Tory Peterson, Ken Kaufman, and Steve Kress, among others, revealed the wonderful world of birds to generations of teachers and students.

April 11

David Russell, Avian Research and Education Institute
Spring Time in Southwest Ohio: The Birds are Coming
Dave teaches ornithology at Miami University and this past year established the Monitoring Avian Productivity and Survivorship (MAPS) bird banding station and sites at Heuston Woods State Park. Dave will get us ready for spring migration and the avalanche of birds that will soon descend upon us by sharing insights into how to find and identify some of our returning bird species. Dave has been known to test his audience to see just what they know and what they have learned so be prepared!

May 9

Larry Frimerman, Executive Director, Three Valley Conservation Trust
Three Valley Conservation Trust and Land Conservation in Southwest Ohio
The Three Valley Conservation Trust, established in 1993, works to conserve the natural environment and cultural heritage in the Four Mile, Seven Mile, Indian Creek and Twin Creek valleys. With more than 4000 acres in conservation easements the Trust is a leading force in the preservation of habitat important to birds and other wildlife. Join us as we learn how the face of land preservation is changed and enhanced in southwestern Ohio.